Fueled by Insights

UNVEILED THROUGH FOCUSED DISCUSSION

Our session combines a facilitated Socratic dialogue with strategic analysis to reach group decision-making by consensus, which is essential to formulate informed strategic plans and reduce internal conflict. Asking the right contemplative questions keeps personal and team reflection focused.

The AcornOak Process

Before our meeting, we'll share a short questionnaire with key questions that will guide us to prepare for our strategic meeting. We've developed our own set of tools and techniques to stimulate productive discussion, analyze the results, and help your team make rapid progress to new visions, strategies, and plans.

For us, it's a journey of discovery to facilitate, deepen, and apply richness to your decision-making. As you agree on a path forward, we're ready to deploy strategies that achieve your desired results.

Our Team Approach

INFORMED INSIGHTS AND QUANTIFIED OUTCOMES

Setting the Context with Research

Before our meeting, we'll review your questionnaire responses and perform an overview of your branding, marketing, and most pressing priorities to bring into our discussion. By taking time to ask probing questions, you gain a better understanding of your emotions, strengths, weaknesses and driving factors.

Brainstorming & Analysis Session

A strategic 2-hour process designed to guide you from business as usual, towards strategic leadership and vertical eminence. Reflect on what's working, define cultural and process bottlenecks, check in on core value alignment across your organization, and map your path toward true north.

Discussion Report & Insights

You will emerge with greater clarity about the past, improved visibility into your current status, and a surer alignment of what you expect of yourself, your team, and your organization. Business self-reflection helps to build emotional awareness and identify pivots that move you beyond success, to iconic leadership.
